Am I Plagiarizing?

Start Here
Did you use someone else's information, idea, or work?

YES
Doing so without a citation is plagiarizing.

Was a line of text copied word for word?

YES
You're using a direct quote!
Place quotation marks around the quote and include an in-text or parenthetical citation.

NO
Did you take someone else's information or idea and put it in your own words?

YES
You're using a paraphrase!
Include an in-text or parenthetical citation.

NO
Did you copy an image, chart, or another source type?

YES
You need to include an in-text or parenthetical citation.

NO
If you don't cite your previous project as the source, you'll commit self-plagiarism.

You're Not Plagiarizing, But...
A quality project should include information from outside sources combined with your own writing and analysis.

Need help? Ask your librarian or teacher!

Cite It or You're Plagiarizing

You're Not Done Yet!
You also need to create a full citation for each source and place it at the end of your project.

Check out our helpful citation tools & guides on EasyBib.com!